GSA, the GENERAL SERVICES ADMINISTRATION, is the biggest independent service and management agency in the entire U. S. Government. GSA needs people, very special people, with very special skills and very special ambitions. People like? Could be!

GUARDS GS-2—$3,925
GS-3—$4,269

GSA is looking for sharp-eyed, alert, physically fit guards to protect all the people, places and property it's responsible for. GSA guards patrol buildings and other premises to keep trespassers out, prevent fire, theft and vandalism. It's their job to protect the people in the buildings against outside annoyances or interference. They control traffic, and generally keep an eye on things.

GSA guards work on rotating shifts, earn 10% extra when they're assigned to work at night. There are GSA jobs for guards all over Washington, and some in Maryland and Virginia, particularly at Langley, Virginia. GS-2 guards need no experience. GS-3 guards must have one year's active military service or a year's experience at protecting people or property.

If you've got this kind of experience or if you think you'd like to get it, come in NOW to take the written test. GSA needs you.

Successful completion of the examination, security clearance and certification by the U.S. Civil Service Commission will result in a career-conditioned appointment.

Tests to be given on Saturday, June 24 at 8:30 a.m., 11:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. Applicants are requested to report to the Main Gate of the CIA Building, off Route 123, Langley, Virginia where the guard will advise on location.
